Fiona Gilbert and Zaheer Fakir, Co-Chairs of the ad hoc work programme on the NCQG.

Zaheer Fakir

- Issues like duplication
- Two groups of parties
- Loose meaning of text
- Outcome of this meeting will decide what we do on Monday and Tuesday
- We must be in the position to present an input paper by the end of this session
- Oral submissions are received
- No need to repeat what has been told

G77 + China- Argentina

- Conceptual ideas to concrete text
- Clarity on how you see the way forward, so people here would know what to expect

New Zealand

- Negotiation on the text and overlays is frustrating
- Willing to get the next step was emphasised
- Generalising what the text would have – taking about duplications - examples are repeated – not needed, a few ideas are also repeated, thus must be deleted
- Strong position must come out
- Working throughout the weekend

AOSIS

- Conversations are dominated by two ideas
 - Emerging economies combating
- NCQG must fully adopt loss and damage
- 2024 workplan
- The papers are not

LDC- Gambia

- Need more clarity on how
- Better structure can make the document more approachable.
- Acceptation into the operational text
- Regional text

COLUMBIA

- Highlighted urgency
- NCQG is for developing countries
